

Archived: Tuesday, 26 November 2019 10:29:00 AM

From: noiseregulation@infrastructure.gov.au

Sent: Fri, 22 Nov 2019 16:11:04

To: Noise Regulation

Subject: Submission to noise regulation review [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

Sensitivity: Normal

Comment: The thought of allowing delivery drones is quite appalling. We live in the world besieged by noise, already, so the thought of introducing yet another source of irritating noise is truly unimaginable. We already endure frequent intrusion of aircraft noise, from both fixed wing aircraft and helicopters. Just the thought of introducing yet more noise from above, fills me with apprehension. I regret to admit that I have a friend who is very keen on flying his drone. One experience of his drone was more than enough for me. The irritating whirring sound, I found quite unendurable. The thought of having no control over such irritating noise fills me with dread.

I could quite understand outraged citizens taking the law into their own hands, and quite understandably taking actions which could result in serious injury to others.

Please, in this already noisy world let us not have yet another source of auditory irritation. We have got along fine for all of history without the appalling nuisance of delivery drones, so please, let us have some sanity here!

Name: Gray Arden

Confidential?: No

submitted via infrastructure.gov.au