Subject: Malaysia Airlines Northern Winter 2020-21 timetable approval - Decision [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Attachments: Malaysia Airlines - OCT NOV - Timetable.docx

OFFICIAL

Dear [Redacted]

Further to my correspondence of Wednesday 21 October 2020, I am writing in relation to Malaysia Airlines timetable for the Northern Winter 2020-21 period.

As a delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications, I have approved Malaysia Airlines timetable application for the Northern Winter 2020-21 period (25 October 2020 – 27 March 2021) under Air Navigation Regulation 2016 (the ANR), Part 5, Division 1, Section 30.

Flights between 25 October 2020 and 21 November 2020 (inclusive) are subject to the conditions specified below.

The conditions are that:

1. No passengers are carried into Melbourne on any scheduled international air service conducted by Malaysia Airlines that arrives at Melbourne between 12:01am Sunday 25 October 2020 and 11:59pm Saturday 21 November 2020; and
2. The number of passengers carried into Brisbane, Perth, Sydney and Adelaide on any scheduled international air service conducted by Malaysia Airlines between 12:01am Sunday 25 October 2020 and 11:59pm Saturday 21 November 2020 must not exceed the limits outlined in the attached revised timetable, except where the Secretary or delegate has approved a higher limit.

This decision will take effect from 12:01am Sunday 25 October 2020.

For the purposes of condition 2 (relating to Brisbane, Perth, Sydney and Adelaide), the following are not ‘passengers’:

a. air crew (including off-shift crew who are travelling as passengers on an aircraft to subsequently operate another international service or repose at another location);
b. infants (less than two years old);
c. unaccompanied minors (less than 18 years old);
d. foreign diplomats and their dependants;
e. persons transiting Australia to a third country, provided those passengers have the necessary transit exemptions and remain airdside for the duration of their transit (which must be less than 8 hours);
f. Australian Government officials and dependants exempt from mandatory quarantine at a government-operated facility.

Please contact the Department if you are intending to carry passengers falling under paragraph f above (ie officials and dependants exempt from mandatory quarantine) on a flight to validate that the passengers meet the exemption category.
Reasons

Under s 30(1)(b)(ii) of the ANR, the Secretary (or delegate) may approve a proposed timetable subject to specified conditions, having regard to various matters including the public interest (s 30(2)(g)) and any other relevant matter (s 30(2)(h)).

In imposing the specified conditions on the timetable I took into account the following:

- The World Health Organisation (WHO) has declared a public health emergency of international concern in relation to COVID-19, and Australia is able and required to implement health measures in response under Article 43 of the International Health Regulations (IHR) and Article 14 of the Convention on International Civil Aviation (Chicago Convention) respectively.
- A significant source of COVID-19 occurrence in Australia is international arrivals. Accordingly, based on expert public health advice, strict quarantine measures are in force for all arrivals into Australia for the purpose of reducing and preventing the spread of COVID-19 into and within the Australian community as a consequence of air navigation into Australia.
- The provision, enforcement, support and administration of quarantine measures in relation to international arrivals requires significant public resources in respect of each international flight that comes into Australia.
- Officials in all States and Territories of Australia have advised that, without the conditions, the expected numbers of passengers arriving into the specified Australian airports would place unsustainable strain on the quarantine measures and accommodation resources that are in place for international arrivals, and would compromise the capacity of policing, health and other resources to deal with any COVID-19 pandemic outbreak in Australia.
- At the same time, some policing and health resources have needed to be redeployed to support measures (particularly testing and tracing) to address COVID-19 cases in some jurisdictions.
- In light of, and to address, these matters, State and Territory Governments have asked the Commonwealth Government to cease (in the case of Victoria) or cap passenger arrivals via air navigation at the levels and for the periods specified in the conditions, based on the number of incoming passenger arrivals they can effectively manage under their quarantine systems.
- Any restrictions need to apply in respect of all international passengers coming into Australia from overseas via air navigation, including on scheduled international air services and non-scheduled flights (eg urgent, unexpected or one-off flights).
- Any restrictions need to be applied in an equitable manner, taking into account the total available quarantine capacity at relevant airports on any given day and other relevant factors including an airline’s frequency of operations over the period, and ensuring there is a reserve of capacity to allow for a limited number of urgent, unexpected, one-off or special flights.
- The need to maximise the utilisation of daily available quarantine capacity and ensure any restrictions are not more restrictive of international traffic and not more invasive or intrusive to persons than reasonably available equivalent alternatives.

Taking these factors into account, I decided that it is in the public interest that the rate of international arrivals into Australia should be managed between 12:01am Sunday 25 October 2020 and 11:59pm Saturday 21 November 2020 as set out in the conditions, as an essential and urgently required measure to assist in the minimisation of the occurrence of, and the prevention of the spread of, COVID-19 in the Australian community.

Passenger limits

The passenger limits outlined in the attached timetable are a conservative figure based on the schedules provided to us by airlines for the NW20-21 scheduling season. It is possible that these limits will increase as airlines revise their schedules, unutilised capacity is handed back and jurisdictions look to increase available quarantine capacity.

Compassionate and vulnerable passengers

In utilising any increases in passenger limits, I ask that you continue to seek to accommodate the carriage of those passengers facing particularly challenging circumstances on compassionate or medical grounds wherever possible.
Capacity utilisation and ‘hand back’

I appreciate that, for some airlines, it may be difficult to fully utilise capacity on a given flight. If you do not require some of your allocated capacity, please ‘hand back’ the capacity as soon as possible by advising us on Sunday 25 October, and every Friday thereafter, of any unused capacity on a given flight.

Any surplus capacity returned in this way would be redistributed to other interested airlines operating on that day (Sydney) or week (Brisbane, Perth, Adelaide). An airline that handed back capacity in this way would receive priority for a request to access future surplus capacity (noting that the availability of such capacity on any given date may be limited).

Please be reminded

All services conducted by or on behalf of Malaysia Airlines, whether using its own aircraft and crew or using aircraft and crew leased from another aircraft operator or airline, shall at all times be operated in accordance with the provisions of the Air Navigation Act 1920, the Civil Aviation Act 1988, the Aviation Transport Security Act 2004 and the regulations made under these three Acts. Without limiting the foregoing, all services conducted by or on behalf of the licensee shall at all times be operated in accordance with the following:

- a valid Transport Security Program approved under Part 2 of the Aviation Transport Security Act 2004;
- a valid Foreign Aircraft Operator's Certificate, Air Operator's Certificate or other appropriate approval issued by the Civil Aviation Safety Authority or delegate thereof OR, for New Zealand carriers operating under ANZA privileges, appropriate approval issued by the New Zealand Ministry of Transport; and
- a valid Timetable Approval issued by the Secretary to the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications or delegate thereof; including any specified conditions applied or applicable to such approvals.

Please also note:

- statistical returns (relating to passengers, freight and mail carried by all international scheduled airlines operating into and out of Australia) must be supplied under Air Navigation Regulation 2016, Part 2; contact lnfrasecurity@gov.au for more details
- timetable applications are due 35 days prior to the commencement of each scheduling period (the Northern Winter period commences on the last Sunday in October while the Northern Summer period commences on the last Sunday in March)
- changes to the approved timetable (e.g. route, frequency, timing if it encroaches on the curfew at an Australian airport) must be submitted for and receive approval PRIOR to the change taking place
- under the Air Navigation Regulation 2016, all airlines are required to provide the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications with a completed ‘Compliance Declaration Form’ (CDF) in conjunction with their timetable application at least 35 days before the commencement of each scheduling period. The CDF can be downloaded from: https://infrastructure.gov.au/aviation/international/ial/licence_status.aspx
- Jet aircraft operating to Australian airports must be certified as Chapter 3 or Chapter 4 of the International Civil Aviation Organization Annex 16 noise standards.

Review of decision

You may make an application to the Administrative Appeals Tribunal for review of this decision.

Capacity increases

Due to schedule changes and capacity handbacks by other airlines since my preliminary advice on 21 October, we have been able to increase passenger limits for Malaysia Airlines' flights arriving in These increased limits are reflected in the attached schedule.

Unfortunately quarantine capacity restrictions mean that we are unable to increase Malaysia Airlines’ passenger allocation for its flight on the 87 passengers as advised on Friday.

As an alternative, we are able to offer an increase in Malaysia’s passenger allocation on its flight to a total of 69 passengers (an increase of 2 passengers). Dear [Name],

The flight already has 120 booked pax and only 17 unticketed. To reduce capacity from 120 to 87 at this stage will mean forced cancellation of passengers from this flight. Can we please request an increase in capacity as it is very hard for us to cancel pax at this stage. For now we have closed the flight for sale in the hope we can secure more than 87 seats.

Appreciate your consideration for this flight.
Thanks

Subject:  Malaysia Airlines Northern Winter 2020-21 - revised passenger limits - Sydney (15-31 Dec) [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Attachments:  Malaysia Airlines - .docx

OFFICIAL

Dear [Name],

I refer to Jim Wolfe’s email of 20 November 2020, in which he, as a delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications for the purposes of s 31 of the Air Navigation Regulation 2016 (the ANR), made a decision to vary Malaysia Airlines’ timetable to impose a further condition.

At that time, Mr Wolfe advised passenger allocations for services into Sydney for the period of 22 November to 31 December 2020 (inclusive).

These allocations were based on the New South Wales Government’s advice that the Department could allocate quarantine capacity for international passenger arrivals in a manner that ensured each flight received the same cap across a given week. However, the NSW Government has advised that this is placing an unsustainable strain on its quarantine system. In order to ensure the integrity of their quarantine arrangements, and based on advice from the NSW Government, it is necessary to revert back to a daily cap of 430 international passenger arrivals.

As a consequence of this change, on days with a high number of passenger services, passenger limits per service will be reduced, and on days with a lower number of passenger services, passenger limits per service will be increased. On a small number of days, there will be no change to passenger limits per service.

For the reason outlined above, and as a delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications for the purposes of s 31 of the ANR, I have made a decision to vary the timetable to impose a further condition to the effect that:

- the number of passengers carried into Sydney on any scheduled international air service conducted by Malaysia Airlines between must not exceed the limits outlined in the revised timetable (attached), except where the Secretary or delegate has approved a higher limit.

This decision will take effect from 12:01am Tuesday 15 December 2020.

To reiterate, the revised timetable (attached) sets out the new passenger limits for arrivals into Sydney.

There have been no other changes for arrivals into other Australian ports.

We apologise for the inconvenience that this may cause and for the late notification of this change. We will continue to seek out opportunities to increase these caps where possible, and where total available capacity allows.

We appreciate your continued cooperation and efforts to help bring Australians home.

Kind regards,
The Department proudly acknowledges the Traditional Owners and Custodians of Australia, and their continuing connections to the land, waters and communities. We pay our respects to them and to their Elders past, present and emerging.
