

Submission: 070

Anonymous

With the Government mandating for all aircraft to have ADS-B installed, I believe there should be greater assistance to cover the installation of the equipment in aircraft. There are many different devices on offer, with a wide range of cost associated. I believe there needs to be a list of the top ??recommended devices for fitment into aircraft.

For private and not for profit operators this is a large expense on top of the regular maintenance requirements for both GA and RAA aircraft.