Anonymous

As an instructor/examiner in the GA environment, one of my biggest fears is the amount of traffic being flown by not-necessarily very welled trained pilots. Mandatory ADSB would make monitoring such traffic and its movements much better and give me an increased confidence operating in uncontrolled airspace - especially with more training traffic being squeezed out of Sydney