A submission

I write to express my concern at the limited scope of the White Paper, and request that it include climate emergency instruments for managing demand for air travel that result in real aviation greenhouse gas emissions cuts this decade, as required by international climate and energy organisations.

Aviation is a huge contributor to climate change, and to the ensuing chaos that results from the effects of burning fossil fuels. The White Paper terms of reference do not adequately recognise this. In the absence of "green" aviation fuels, which may never be found, aviation cannot be allowed to continue as it has. Let alone be encouraged to continue, as the current terms of reference appear to do.

Kind Regards

Bruce Hogben
