Re: Aviation White Paper - Terms of Reference feedback

Thanks for the opportunity to provide feedback.

While the Terms Of Reference refer to de-carbonising aviation and electric aviation it does not refer to vertiports for Advanced Air Mobility.

The key to eVTOL success is going to be whether we can break the nexus between traditional airports and aviation by creating a new class of landing field - a vertiport.

There is strong policy support at all levels of Government for AAM and CASA has recently released vertiport guidelines.

It would be desirable for the Aviation White Paper to pick up on the vertiport draft guidelines and to further the policy framework around where vertiports may be encouraged to locate.
