Short comment

Living in an area without usable mobile coverage which is bushfire prone, neighbours a distance away, and healthcare options half an hour away leaves us very vulnerable. We rely on having a landline which will work without power as we have no other communication without it. Power often goes out on hot windy high bushfire risk days. We have members of the family with acute health issues and rely on being able to use our landline in emergency situations. Mobile coverage is non-existent and without power we have no internet capability or wifi calling.
