Hi s [REDACTED]

Please accept this email as confirmation that the timetable variation (as outlined in your email below of 20 November 2020) to Asiana Airlines' approved Northern Winter 2020-21 timetable has been approved under Air Navigation Regulation 2016, Part 5, Division 2, Section 31.

All services conducted by or on behalf of the abovenamed airline, whether using its own aircraft and crew or using aircraft and crew leased from another aircraft operator or airline, shall at all times be operated in accordance with the provisions of the Air Navigation Act 1920, the Civil Aviation Act 1988, the Aviation Transport Security Act 2004 and the regulations made under these three Acts. Without limiting the foregoing, all services conducted by or on behalf of the licensee shall at all times be operated in accordance with the following:

- a valid Transport Security Program approved under part 2 of the Aviation Transport Security Act 2004;
- a valid Foreign Aircraft Operator's Certificate, Air Operator's Certificate or other appropriate approval issued by the Civil Aviation Safety Authority or delegate thereof OR, for New Zealand carriers operating under ANZA privileges, appropriate approval issued by the New Zealand Ministry of Transport; and
- a valid Timetable Approval issued by the Secretary to the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications or delegate thereof; including any specified conditions applied or applicable to such approvals.

Please be reminded of the following:

- statistical returns (relating to passengers, freight and mail carried by all international scheduled airlines operating into and out of Australia) must be supplied under Air Navigation Regulation 2016, Part 2; contact gmano@infrastructure.gov.au for more details
- timetable applications are due 35 days prior to the commencement of each scheduling period (the Northern Winter period commences on the last Sunday in October while the Northern Summer period commences on the last Sunday in March)
- changes to the approved timetable (e.g. route, frequency, timing if it encroaches on the curfew at an Australian airport) must be submitted for and receive approval PRIOR to the change taking place
- under the Air Navigation Regulation 2016, all airlines are required to provide the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications with a completed 'Compliance Declaration Form' (CDF) in conjunction with their timetable application at least 35 days before the commencement of each scheduling period. The

CDF can be downloaded from:

https://infrastructure.gov.au/aviation/international/ial/licence_status.aspx

- Jet aircraft operating to Australian airports must be certified as Chapter 3 or Chapter 4 of the International Civil Aviation Organization Annex 16 noise standards.

OFFICIAL

Dear [redacted]

I refer to Jim Wolfe's correspondence of Friday 13 November seeking confirmation of final operating schedules and inviting submissions for timetable variations for 1 January to 31 January 2021 to Asiana's approved timetable for the Northern Winter 2020-21 period (the timetable).

I am now writing to provide an update on the proposed number of passengers to be allowed on flights operated to Australian airports between 1 January and 31 January 2021.

As a delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications for the purposes of s31 of the Air Navigation Regulation 2016 (the ANR), I propose to vary the timetable to impose a further condition to the effect that:

- the number of passengers carried into Brisbane, Perth, Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide on any scheduled international air service conducted by Asiana between 12:01am Friday 1 January 2021 and 11:59pm Sunday 31 January 2021 must not exceed the limits outlined in the attached proposed revised timetable, except where the Secretary or delegate has approved a higher limit.

This decision is proposed to take effect from 12:01am Friday 1 January 2021.

Please note that the following categories of passengers are not included in the limits for Brisbane, Perth, Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide:

- air crew (including off-shift crew who are travelling as passengers on an aircraft to subsequently operate another international service or reposition at another location);
- infants (less than two years old) - with the exception of flights to Adelaide;
- unaccompanied minors (less than 18 years old) - with the exception of flights to Adelaide;
- foreign diplomats and their dependants;
- persons transiting Australia to a third country, provided those passengers have the necessary transit exemptions and remain airside for the duration of their transit (which must be less than 8 hours);
- Australian Government officials and dependants exempt from mandatory quarantine at a government-operated facility - with the exception of flights to Adelaide. Please contact the Department if you are intending to carry such passengers on a flight to validate that the passengers meet the exemption category.

Reasons

Under s31(1)(f) of the ANR, the Secretary (or delegate) may vary an approved timetable if it is in the public interest to do so.

In proposing to vary the timetable I took into account the following:

- The World Health Organisation (WHO) has declared a public health emergency of international concern in relation to COVID-19, and Australia is able and required to implement health measures in response under Article 43 of the International Health Regulations (IHR) and Article 14 of the Convention on International Civil Aviation (Chicago Convention) respectively.
- A significant source of COVID-19 occurrence in Australia is international arrivals. Accordingly, based on expert public health advice, strict quarantine measures are in force for all arrivals into Australia for the purpose of reducing and preventing the spread of COVID-19 into and within the Australian community as a consequence of air navigation into Australia.
- The provision, enforcement, support and administration of quarantine measures in relation to international arrivals requires significant public resources in respect of each international flight that comes into Australia.
- Officials in all States and Territories of Australia have advised that, without the proposed condition, the expected numbers of passengers arriving into the specified Australian airports would place unsustainable strain on the quarantine measures and accommodation resources that are in place for international arrivals, and would compromise the capacity of policing, health and other resources to deal with any COVID-19 pandemic outbreak in Australia.
- At the same time, some policing and health resources have needed to be redeployed to support measures (particularly testing and tracing) to address COVID-19 cases in some jurisdictions.
- In light of, and to address, these matters, State and Territory Governments have asked the Commonwealth Government to cap passenger arrivals via air navigation at the levels for the periods specified in the proposed condition, based on the number of incoming passenger arrivals they can effectively manage under their quarantine systems.
- Any restrictions need to apply in respect of all international passengers coming into Australia from overseas via air navigation, including on scheduled international air services and non-scheduled flights (eg urgent, unexpected or one-off flights).
- Any restrictions need to be applied in an equitable manner, taking into account the total available quarantine capacity at relevant airports on any given day and other relevant factors including an airline's frequency of operations over the period, and ensuring there is a small reserve of capacity to allow for a limited number of urgent, unexpected, one-off or special flights.
- The need to maximise the utilisation of daily available quarantine capacity and ensure any restrictions are not more restrictive of international traffic and not more invasive or intrusive to persons than reasonably available equivalent alternatives.

Taking these factors into account, my preliminary view is that it is in the public interest that the rate of international arrivals into Australia should be managed between 12:01am Friday 1 January 2021 and 11:59pm Sunday 31 January 2021 as set out in the proposed condition, as an essential and urgently required measure to assist in the minimisation of the occurrence of, and the prevention of the spread of, COVID-19 in the Australian community.

If you wish me to consider any submission before I make my decision, please provide this as soon as possible but no later than 10:00pm Monday 21 December 2020 (AEDT).

Passenger limits

The passenger limits outlined in the attached condition on the timetable are a conservative figure based on the current schedules provided to us by airlines. It is possible that these limits will increase as airlines revise their schedules, unutilised capacity is handed back and jurisdictions look to increase available quarantine capacity.

Compassionate and vulnerable passengers

In utilising any increases in passenger limits, I ask that you continue to seek to accommodate the carriage of those passengers facing particularly challenging circumstances on compassionate or medical grounds wherever possible.

Capacity utilisation and 'hand back'

I appreciate that, for some airlines, it may be difficult to fully utilise capacity on a given flight. If you do not require some of your allocated capacity, please 'hand back' the capacity as soon as possible by advising us of any unused capacity on a given flight.

Any surplus capacity returned in this way would be redistributed to other interested airlines operating on that week. An airline that handed back capacity in this way would receive priority for a request to access future surplus capacity (noting that the availability of such capacity on any given date may be limited).

Airlines should also continue to provide utilisation reports every Tuesday.
