Hi s22(1)(a)(ii),

As requested, please see attached a list of all 185 grantees under the JAF program.

All contracts have now been executed. ACM and Deaf Connect signed off in the last couple of days. All funds exhausted.

We have provided some brief analysis on the top recipients and breakdown of publisher type (including ACM who is writing to the Minister about their payment allocation).

Examples of grantees have been included in the media release for the NIF which you should see shortly.

Let us know if you need anything further for next week.

Regards

Journalism Assistance Fund (JAF) - Final Outcomes Summary

Headline figures

- The Journalism Assistance Fund (JAF) opened for applications on 21 November and closed on 19 December due to the program being fully subscribed.
- 199 applications were received.
- 185 applications were successful and were offered grant agreements to provide funding of $13,000 per eligible full-time equivalent (FTE) journalist over three years.
- The full $67.6 million in funding available under the JAF has been allocated to successful applicants.
- Across the 185 applications, 1733.3 FTE journalists have been supported through the program - or 2021 individual journalists.
- Payments to successful applicants were made shortly after grant agreements were executed. The first payments started being made in December 2025.

A full list of JAF recipients is at the end of this document.
