

We need more Australia tv for our kids- the choices are so limited but our favourite shows are the local ones - little lunch , you're skitting me, dance academy. These shows are great but are repeated over and over because there isn't enough of these great Aussie shows to have different ones every year. I don't want my kids playing in American accents, learning American history and culture - but to be proud if there own.

The ABC needs more funding to continue its great production slate, and the children's quota for commercial channels should be increased. There should also be a high quota for on line streaming sites.

Let's invest in our kids with local content to increase their confidence culture and intelligence, with local stories and local actors. Good quality Aussie kids tv and more of it!

Best regards,
Kate Gorman
