

Short Statured People do not reach a height of over 140 cm and these comments were made by a person of 130 cm in height. The seats on buses were too high and her feet do not reach the floor so if you are sitting on an isle seat you can fall off the seat when the bus is turning. The seat in front is too far away for arms to reach. Perhaps arm rests would solve this problem.

Steps into bus too steep this is usually the second step.

Regards Eleanor Snook